

InfiniteBody

A wayward blog about happenings in dance by veteran New York City dance writer Eva Yaa Asantewaa

"The eternal body of Man is the Imagination." -- William Blake

"If the doors of perception were cleansed, everything would appear to man as it is, infinite." -- William Blake

"You were wild once. Don't let them tame you." -- Isadora Duncan

"Artists are here to disturb the peace." -- James Baldwin

"I speak two languages: English and body." -- Mae West

"I get up. I walk. I fall down. Meanwhile, I keep dancing." -- Rabbi Hillel

A craving for Popkin

Since one of my dearest friends performs in Lionel Popkin's There Is An Elephant In This Dance--brought in from the West Coast and opened, last evening, at Danspace Project--I won't write a review. But I can urge you to go to see this delectable, dreamy, poetic, luminous thing, continuing tonight and Saturday at 8:30. Expect the unexpected!

Performances by Popkin and Carolyn Hall, Ishmael Houston-Jones, Peggy Piacenza. Original music by Robert Een, performed by Een with percussionist Hearn Gadbois and singer Valecia Phillips. Costumes by Jean Landry. Lighting by Kathy Kaufmann. Video by Kyle Ruddick and Cari Ann Shim Sham. All deserve a shout-out!
